MANIFOLD RESOURCES OF FARMS SHOWN BY COMMUNITY EXHIBITS

Smartly Tailored Dress Made From Bran Sack Is On Display—Many Fine Examples of Needlework Seen—Products of Community Canner Are Included In Offering From Fargo.

In the early days pioneers of the West were thrown upon their own resources, to raise the things they needed to eat and wear. From this beginning, farmers swung in a wide arc to the other extreme, and became one-crop specialists. Now they are raising more things than they ever raised before.

An inspection of the community exhibits at the Wilbarger county fair will show anybody that if a mythical enemy swooped down upon certain communities in the county and surrounded these communities and camped, cutting them off from other towns and the rest of the world, they would get along all right.

Take clothes for instance. There is a smartly tailored dress in the exhibit from Harrold community, and on casual inspection one draws a mental picture of a show window and placard, "Reduced to $4.98." But the cost of the dress is represented by two items, plus a little deft work, and the items are as follows:

"One bran sack, cost 10 cents. One package of dye, cost 10 cents. Total cost, 20 cents."

In the Fargo exhibit is a woman's hat, cost not given, but to the eyes of a mere man it is a very creditable hat. Women of the Fargo community have made 52 hats this year, and six dresses, it was stated at the exhibit booth yesterday.

In the Harrold booth is a made-over dress very smart and trim looking. The cost of making it over was represented by 25 cents worth of ribbon and a little work.

Again, all the communities represented have on display needlework which would delight the eye of any lover of the beautiful. Everything from babies' clothes to bed spreads are included.

And when it comes to things to eat, the rich burgomaster described in the legend of Sleepy Hollow would look like a pauper by comparison. The well known Heinz, who pickles 57 varieties of foodstuffs, would decide that he has been a slacker, and try to get a new grip on himself if he saw those displays. After looking them over, visitors go away asking, "Is there any thing Wilbarger county can't raise?"

In the Farmers Valley exhibit are included the following articles, grown on the farm of T. C. Frost: Indian peaches, made into sweet pickles of two varieties, pears, pear preserves, cucumber pickles, including one jar put up five years ago and still apparently in good condition, canned pepper, grape butter, chow-chow, and the following fresh articles:

Apples, pears, watermelons of large size, green sweet potato slips grown in a cellar, the roots half filling a quart jar, black walnuts, red onions, beets, sweet potatoes, pumpkins, "Pike's Peak" pie-melons, a tomato vine eight feet long, maize, kaffir, oats, red Kansas wheat, sudan grass, sorghum, a cross between sorghum and sudan grass, hot hot peppers, peanuts, fine white and yellow field corn, John son grass hay, persimmons, alfalfa, and cotton. This includes only a part of the Farmers Valley exhibit.

A splendid showing of canned goods is in the Fargo booth, all put up at the Fargo community canner or at one or another of the privately owned canners in the neighborhood. Corn, green beans, black-eyed peas, pumpkins, sweet potatoes, okra, tomatoes, veal loaf, chili beef, roast beef and fried chicken, all put up in tins, are on exhibition. Sour kraut, many kinds of preserves, mince meat, pickles of several varieties, chow chow, tomato relish, baked pears, pickled onions, cherries and pears mixed, blackberries, plumpies and pears mixed, figs, and a number of other delicacies put up in glass fruit jars are in the display. Melons, fruits and vegetables and many other staple and fancy crops find a place in the exhibit. An assortment of pastry is shown.

Elliott is another community showing a varied line of tinned food products, and vies with the other booths in its display of dainties put up in glass jars. The fancy work from Elliott is of such nature as to command the attention of all who see it. In the products fresh from the farms are included some fine cotton, practically all varieties of grain grown in this section of the state, potatoes, melons, peanuts, fresh roasting ears, pears, tomatoes and peaches.

Two vases of artificial roses, made of crepe paper and dipped into paraffin, are in this booth. They are the handiwork of Mrs. M. E. Mason and Mrs. Zelma Wagner of Elliott and have commanded a great deal of admiration during the fair.

Fresh cantaloupes, close-netted and firm of flesh, are in the Harrold community booth. Other things to delight an Epicure are there—fruits and vegetables, fresh or put up in jars, with the light imprisoning itself in the tempting interior. Grains and feeds grown and ripened as if nature had lavished all her bounty in their behalf, are to be seen.

The display from Harrold includes a choice collection of farm products and some of the finest examples of needlework seen at the fair. A bedspread made by Miss Cora Trisler is one of the features of this booth while attractive infants' clothes, also, are shown. A dress remodeled by Miss Bess Douglas at a trifling cost is on display.

The display from Oklahoma probably attracted more attention than any other booth at the fair. The reason for this is found in a splendid collection of carved ivory and native woodwork and relics, gathered by Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Campbell of Oklahoma, while they were stationed in the Congo region of Africa. The collection of ivory is said to be the best privately owned assortment in the United States.

Many other articles shown recently at the Oklahoma fair are on display. A choice assortment of preserved fruit and some excellent articles of needlework are to be seen.

Flattering comment on the community exhibits has been heard on every hand at the fair, and the statement has been made frequently this week that these displays will next year form the most important feature of the association. Last year only two community exhibits were shown—those of Fargo and Elliott. The latter took first prize.

Dance at Hillcrest Postponed

The dance scheduled for tonight at the Hillcrest country club has been postponed on account of the fair. A new date for the dance has not been set.

THREE SENTENCED TO PENITENTIARY

ROSCOE ARBUCLE ACQUITTED; DISTRICT COURT TAKES UP CIVIL DOCKET.

Sentences aggregating 10 years were assessed against three persons by juries in district court this week, while one felony case resulted in a hung jury and a second in acquittal.

Arthur Smith, charged with burglary of Napier Bros. garage, was found guilty and sentenced to serve two years. M. D. Pruitt, charged with burglary of the same garage on a different occasion was given a three year sentence.

Calvin Carnes, indicted for forgery, was given five years, but his sentence was suspended. Carnes is less than 21 years old, according to evidence produced in court. He pleaded guilty.

Roscoe Arbuckle, tried Wednesday on a charge of attempted burglary, was acquitted after the jury had been out a short time.

The jury in the case of D. T. Oates, Hardean county man arrested here and charged with violation of the Dean law, was unable to agree and was discharged Tuesday afternoon. The jury was divided 10 to 2. Oates defended his own case, refusing the services of a lawyer. His wife and his daughter were with him in the courtroom.

Judge Nabors took up the civil docket Thursday. District court will be in session here again next week. According to County Attorney Storey, no more criminal cases will be tried this term.

INTERNATIONAL POLICE CHIEFS MEET.

Violin case burglar kit

Detective Vincent A. Hastings, of the Safe and Loft Squad of the New York Police Department, is shown displaying a complete and costly burglar's kit, carried in an innocent-looking violin case, to Miss Helen Colbran, representing the Everett (Wash.) Police Department, at the International Police Chiefs' Conference in session in New York.

BIG WICHITA FALLS DELEGATION HERE

MORE THAN 150 ARRIVE FROM "MAGIC CITY"; QUARTET MAKES POPULAR HIT

Clad in semi-white robes, similar in some respects to the invisible empire regalia, although unmarked, with a spirit of cordiality and friendship that always commands admiration, accompanied with a species of "pep" known only to "The City That Faith Built," a big delegation of Wichita Falls business men, several of whom were accompanied by their wives and families, invaded Vernon today.

Today is Wichita Falls day at the Wilbarger county fair, and the magic city is showing its full appreciation of the courtesy extended by the fair association by turning out in large numbers.

Led by R. E. Sheppard, of the City National Bank of Commerce of that city, a quartette of artists, accompanied by a score of the robed and feathered visitors, paraded the streets of Vernon, and while some feared that a raid would be made on the local banks, the affair turned out to be a daylight serenade and local townspeople were treated to a rare exhibition of musical art. The visitors marched boldly into business establishments and sang songs of their own selection, which "hit the spot."

Praise Vernon

"You have the best town we have ever visited. Your paved streets, beautiful trees and shrubbery and the general hospitality of your citizens speak loud for Vernon. We are for you" is the comment of the average Wichitan.

"I am surprised at the apparent cotton yield you are having up here. It looks to me like you are going to make a good crop," said one Wichita booster shortly after arriving at the fair grounds.

It is estimated that from 150 to 200 citizens from Wichita Falls are in Vernon today and they are calling attention to the Texas-Oklahoma Fair, to be held in that city September 30 to October 4. This will be the first exhibition of its kind ever staged in this section of the country and a big attendance is expected.

The following is a partial list of the Wichita visitors: J. L. Mears, C. C. Kirby, B. T. Burdick, Milton Johnson, W. T. Curlee, C. E. Baldwin, J. B. Cunningham, R. E. Sheppard, J. W. Gray, Cellers Rogers, O. D. McCoy, H. A. Gray, Jr., Joseph Huchins, R. F. Henderson, O. P. Mirche, Geo. A. Mohrley, H. R. Yelvington, J. D. Robinson and L. S. Williams.

50 ELECTRA PEOPLE VISIT COUNTY FAIR

EXHIBITS PRAISED BY MEN OF OIL CITY, AT COUNTY FAIR YESTERDAY.

A delegation composed of 40 to 50 business men of Electra, several of whom were accompanied by their families, visited the Wilbarger county fair yesterday.

Thursday was set as Electra day by the fair association and the oil city boosters accepted the Wilbarger hospitality and favored Vernon with a large representation of its citizens.

"Your fair is an inspiration to all progressive citizens, your community exhibits are excellent and your livestock and poultry are creditable. Wilbarger is one of the best counties in this section of the state," was the general comment of the Electra boosters.

Among those who attended from Electra were: Jno. Brownlee, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. F. Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Johnson, E. R. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wise, G. J. Price, Mrs. Sam Cummins, Mayor Wm. Calvert, Mrs. Ed Moreland and family, J. A. Brandon, E. H. Archer, J. H. Harris, Dr. J. Greaves, R. T. Taylor and family, R. D. Horton and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. McDannald.

VERNON BANKS SHOW HEALTHY CONDITION

TOTAL RESOURCES OF FOUR IN- STITUTIONS HERE ARE $3,235,091.83

Statements of the financial condition of Vernon banks, in compliance with a call issued Sept. 15, show all four institutions to be in healthy shape and ready to take care of the full rush of business. Combined deposits of the four banks are $2,319,256.56, and total resources are $3,235,091.83. Loans and discounts aggregate $2,152,452.23.

Deposits and total resources show a slight loss compared with the last statements, issued early in July, when total resources were $3,255,067.51 and deposits $2,339,193.28. However, as one banker pointed out today, deposits from the farms are just getting well under way, and the next call is expected to show total deposits much larger than at present.

Strong cash reserves have been built up in the four banks. Money in these institutions alone, not taking into account the other banks in the county, gives a per capita deposit of more than $150 for each person in the county.

According to local bankers, the settlement of the coal strike and the rail strike, now in process of accomplishment, will remove the last barrier to prosperity over the country, and Vernon banks and business men are in excellent shape to take advantage of the era of good times which is expected to be ushered in this fall and winter.

COMMUNITY EXHIBITS AND LIVESTOCK WIN PRAISE AT COUNTY EXHIBITION

CONGO GIRLS WEAR ONE PIECE SUITS

COLLECTION OF CARVED IVORY AND AFRICAN CURIOS SHOWN AT FAIR

In the Oklahoma exhibit at the Wilbarger county fair is one wardrobe which refuses to fit with the other artistic examples of needlework. It is a complete outfit of feminine clothing, fashioned by an African belle, and like the famed American bathing suits it consists of one piece. It is not a heavy suit and evidently was not made for winter wear.

The article is a part of one of the most interesting exhibits ever shown at any fair. Included in the collection are many articles carved from ivory by native blacks.

The collection is owned by Mrs. J. K. Campbell of Oklahoma. It was gathered while Mr. and Mrs. Campbell were in the French Congo, where he was sent to build guns for the Continental Gun company. They remained in Africa two years and a half.

Skins of wild animals and teeth from a hippopotamus slain near Mrs. Campbell's home are shown. A native stool made from a single block of wood with a pocket knife is on exhibition. Mohammedan beads carved from wood, various instruments that send out weird sounds when touched, may be seen. Mats woven by the natives at Presbyterian and Baptist missions are there. One mat comes from Tanganyika, a point in the interior from where the Livingston and Stanley expedition started into unexplored regions of the dark continent.

Mrs. Campbell is showing her husband's sun hat, a huge affair. She stated this week as she was about to start on her journey back to the states, she found that she needed a new hat very badly and no millinery store being nearer than hundreds of miles, she and her husband went out into the forest and brought down a bird of brilliant plumage. This was fashioned into a hat.

The Campbell exhibit of carved ivory is worthy of any collection. It consists of pins, rings, bracelets and vases carved into designs by the natives, who use a small steel instrument for this delicate work. A cane made of rolled cocoon leaves resembling brown wood, with a carved ivory handle is among the curios. A small crocodile with its mouth wide open seems about ready to devour some pie-annoy. From a single piece of ivory five elephants are carved as if crossing a bridge down to the minutest detail. This handiwork is perfect.

After Wichita Falls specialists had failed in their effort to remove it, Floyd Key, son of Chief of Police J. D. Key, son of Chief of Police, J. ed up a grass-burr which had been lodged in his throat four days.

KEY RECOVERS FROM EFFECTS OF GRASS-BURR IN THROAT

The youth was playing football at the Parker school at the time of the accident. A grass-burr stuck in his finger and when he attempted to remove it with his teeth, it was sucked down his throat.

The grass-burr was located by physicians at Wichita Falls. It was lodged in his vocal chords. When they put young Key under the ether, however, preparatory to removing it, he took a violent coughing spell and the object could not again be located. It was thought that he had swallowed it. He coughed it up while on the return trip to Vernon. He has recovered from the effects of the accident.

More Than Four Thousand Attend Fair First Two Days; All Departments Make Excellent Showing; Big Crowd Expected From Wichita Falls.

With six creditable community exhibits where there were only two last year, and with the best offering of blooded livestock ever shown here, the tenth annual session of the Wilbarger county fair association opened Wednesday. Attendance on the opening day was 2,300 and yesterday it was about 1,800. These figures are about the same as last year's.

HORSE RACES PROVE BIG DRAWING CARD

HUGE CROWDS WATCH THOROUGHBREDS AT FAIR PARK; WINNERS ANNOUNCED

The love of a good horse race, when the thoroughbreds strain side by side down the track, the thrill of the final flash of speed which puts one yard in the lead as he nears the judges' box, still appeals strongly to West Texans. This was shown during the week by the large crowds which watched the races at the Wilbarger county fair.

Winners in the races Wednesday and Thursday are announced as follows: Wednesday.—Relay race, Y. O. Westley of Hardean county, first; Ike Luttrell of Vernon, second. Quarter mile dash, William Sapp, first; T. C. Brown, second; Mr. Fuller, third. Five eighths miles race, Bill Sapp, first; Mr. Fuller, second; Mr. Wooden, third. Mile dash, H. H. Merchants closed their places of business promptly at noon Wednesday, which was "Vernon Day" at the fair.

Business men have agreed also to close shop this afternoon from 2 to 4:30 p. m. Business streets have been decorated with flags and bunting during the week, and have been thronged with visitors from out of town.

Yesterday was Electra Day, and about 40 visitors from the oil metropolis were in attendance at the exhibition. A large delegation arrived from Wichita Falls today.

Attractions at the fair this year include a carnival company, with a ferris wheel, and the usual concessions and amusements, daily horse races, some of which have turned out "neck and neck" contests, giving spectators a real thrill; an extensive array of articles on display at the exhibition hall, including a large number of individual exhibits and a number of special displays by Vernon business houses; and entries from boys' and girls' clubs of the county; pure-bred dogs, representing most of the breeds popular in this section of Texas; and an excellent showing of registered swine, cattle and chickens, as well as other animals.

The largest crowd of the week is expected to visit fair park tomorrow, which has been designated as Farmers' Day.

Fine Display of Textiles

The textile division presided over by Mrs. O. A. Brunson is said to be one of the most complete exhibits ever shown at the county fair. Knitted lace so filmy and dainty as to look almost like a cobweb is here, beautiful camisoles with атта lace that took hours and hours of tedious work, centerpieces, guest towels and many other dainty things. Articles made of flour sacks, from the lowly dish towel to a little misses dress are included in this exhibit. Home made rugs of grandmother's day are back in fashion again and may be seen here with their gay colors dyed with bought dyes instead of coppers and log wood of grandmother's time. Beautiful quilts line the walls and some were made by young women of 1870 who stroll by and admire these quilts of ancient lineage. Of more modern times one may see bed spreads made of unbleached muslin by the girls of today, handsome with their flowers and fruit in applique.

In the center of the textile division may be found a framed Indian head made by Mrs. M. H. Kester and which was fashioned on a sewing machine and resembles embroidery work.

Model Kitchen Shown

Hampton Plumbing company is showing a model kitchen which seems to be the delight of the house wife. An oil range is used and a hot water heater which uses oil for fuel is one of the most convenient articles in this kitchen. A pressure cooker on the stove to show its gas saving qualities, a kitchen cabinet setp saver and other labor saving devices are shown.

The Fine arts department with Mrs. R. H. Coffee in charge includes in the collection some beautiful china painted by artists in Vernon. A splendid exhibit of paintings in oil and water colors hangs on the walls. Vernon claims within her city limits some artists of note. Paintings from Harrold and other near by towns are hung there, too. Flowers are included in this booth and choice varieties of cut flowers and pot plants are shown.

The Maxwell House Coffee company has an attractive booth in the exhibition building, with a special representative from the Houston headquarters of the company in charge. Free coffee is served to all who desire.

"CHARITY AT HOME" IS MINISTER'S PLEA

REV. E. L. MOORE POINTS TO NEED OF FUNDS TO CARE FOR NEEDY HERE.

Rev. E. L. Moore, pastor of the Presbyterian church and chairman of the Vernon Welfare association, in a written statement, calls attention to the fact that at his season of the year, when many organizations are engaged in efforts to raise money for outside projects, the needs of the local field should not be neglected. A number of persons here are in want, he says, and deserves assistance. His letter follows:

"The time of year is approaching when various and sundry organizations usually put on drives for funds to finance their work. Already plans are being made and promoters are being sent out for this purpose.

"The writer has been chairman of the Welfare Association for the past year and has spent much time in investigating and considering scores of applications for help that have come before the Welfare committee. This need has been great. There exists in our city some conditions under which people are trying to work and live that are incredible to those who do not know the circumstances.

"Every indication points to much greater need this coming winter than we have ever known before. The funds in the treasury of the Welfare Association are now almost completely exhausted. If we meet our obligations to our own unfortunate and soon we must make a canvass to replenish the charity fund.

"I have always heard that charity begins at home and I am not ashamed to say that I believe it. The people who live among us, our neighbors and those whom chance has thrown among us, that may need our help, are, as I believe, entitled to our first consideration. I see no good reason why we should send hundreds of dollars away from home to help people we do not know about, and to pay salaries or bonuses to agents and promoters when there is great need at our door and where every cent we give will be directed to the specific end for which it is given.

"I would cast no insinuation on any person or institution, if you feel able and willing to assist any or all of these drives you are at liberty to do so as a free citizen, but you cannot give to them and refuse to help those among us, whom we know are in need, and not, in my opinion, violate your chief obligation in the matter of charity. Think on these things."

We want to thank the kind neighbors, friends and physicians who rendered such unselfish service during the illness and passing of our dear father and grandfather.

No Open Season on Wood Ducks

The close season on wood ducks, which has been in effect since 1918 under the provisions of the migratory bird treaty act, will continue during the hunting season this fall, according to the Bureau of Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture. These birds may not be killed anywhere in the United States. The wood duck, or summer duck, as it is commonly known in many localities, is one of the most beautiful of native game birds, and breeds practically throughout the United States. Formerly it was threatened with extinction, but under the protection afforded by the migratory treaty act during the past few years its numbers are now beginning to show an increase. Elder ducks and swans are also protected throughout the year.

Miss Vaughn and John Huntley Wed
Miss Waldene Vaughn and John Huntley, both of Vernon were married Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Methodist parsonage, Rev. R. E. Dickenson, pastor of the Methodist church, officiated. Soon after the ceremony the couple departed for a brief wedding journey.

The bride is the daughter of Sidney Vaughn of Vernon. Accompanied by her parents, she came here in 1909 from East Texas.

She is a graduate of Holcomb Training school and attended the state normal at Canyon. She was formerly in the employ of the Vernon Electric company as bookkeeper.

Mr. Huntley came here from Crowley two years ago and accepted a position with the Vernon fire department as driver. During the war he served in an engineer corps overseas.

The couple will make their home in Vernon.

Appeals Court Justice Here

Associate Justice W. C. Morrow of the Texas court of criminal appeals was in Vernon yesterday on a visit, in company with his son, Tarleton Morrow. The latter is a member of the law firm of Weeks, Morrow and Francis, of Wichita Falls.

"This is my first visit here," Justice Morrow said, "but I have been greatly impressed with Vernon and the surrounding farming country. It reminds me strongly in some respects of my old home country, in Hill county."

Justice Morrow and his son left yesterday afternoon for Wichita Falls, where the former is spending a portion of his vacation at his son's home.

Grand Jury Returns 21 Bills

Twenty-one bills were found by the grand jury which was impaneled the first week of the September term of the district court here and was dismissed last week.

Thirteen were felony indictments and eight for misdemeanors.

In its report the grand jury asked that an annex be built to the county jail, as the present quarters are inadequate. Boys sent there for their first offense are forced on account of crowded conditions to be thrown in contact with hardened criminals, it was stated. The women's cells are placed near the negro quarters, because lack of room, forces this to be done. It is also asked that a bath room be partitioned off in the runaround for the prisoners.

Fast and reckless driving by motorists is condemned and officers are blamed for negligence in enforcing the law pertaining to motorists.

ENEMIES OF CATTLE DIPPING HELP REPAIR DAMAGED VATS

Wanton destruction of cattle-dipping vats in Echols county, Ga., early in the summer, interrupted systematic tick eradication there only temporarily according to the United States Department of Agriculture. As events turned out, many persons who opposed the dipping of cattle are now engaged in repairing the vats and in building new ones so that their cattle can be dipped regularly and conveniently at points near their homes. Although the destruction of vats by a lawless element was given wide publicity throughout the country, records of the Department of Agriculture show that during the month of August practically all the cattle in Echols county were dipped under Federal or State supervision.

Most opposition to the eradication of cattle ticks results from unfamiliarity with the purpose and benefits of the work or from unwillingness to receive a formation on the subject. More than 15 years of experience in conducting systematic dipping has enabled the Department of Agriculture to meet all situations and opposition encountered up to the present time. The usual educational work is generally effective, but additional persuasion combined with law enforcement is at times necessary.

Monday and Tuesday "The Light in the Clearing," Irving Bachelor's first screen novel will be shown. Mr. Bachelor until now has belonged to that class of authors who frowned upon the adaptation of their stories to the silver screen, but T. Hayes Hunter, director, has this to say about the screening of modern stories:

"The stories from the hands of the recognized novelists are always written expressly for the printed page and not for the screen; consequently the skilled craftsman who molds the tale as best suits its screen transcription should be left to follow his own desires.

"Irving Bachelor, who has for years stood with the anti-cinema literary element, has finally succumbed to the lure of the shadow sheet, and has given a carte blanche concession to the continuity writer to do with the story as he—the adapter—thinks best.

"In my present production of Mr. Bachelor's first screen novel, 'The Light in the Clearing'—for the Dial Film Company, I hope to produce a superior picture to 'Earthbound,' and if the photoplay version of Mr. Bachelor's largest selling novel is as big a success as I hope it will be, Mr. Bachelor is to be congratulated for his concession.

"The case who are visualizing Mr. Bachelor's most recent literary work, include the names of Clara Horton, Eddie Sutherland, Eugenia Besserer, Frank Leigh, George Hackathorne and Andrew Arbuckle.

BOWERS AND BIRD WILL BATTLE HERE

VERNON AND CROWELL LADS
MATCHED FOR BOUT
SEPTEMBER 29.

Dick Bowers, pulchy Vernon fighter, and Eddie Bird, seasoned miller of Crowell, here been matched for another bout at Vernon Sept. 29, according to C. E. Gilliland, who for the past eight months has been managing Bowers. The fight will be held at the Peck building on North Main street. Three preliminaries of four or possibly six rounds will be arranged, Mr. Gilliland said.

Bowers and Bird fought an eight-round draw here recently, and according to the former's manager there has been a popular demand for another engagement. Bowers had a bad ear in the last go, which bothered him some, but is now all right, the promoter stated. The Vernon lad weighed in at 128 pounds before the previous bout with Bird, while the latter tipped the scales at 135. He has agreed to make 130 for the coming fight.

Bowers has 14 knockouts to his credit and has won 15 fights on points, according to his manager, and during this time has suffered no defeats and been accorded only two draws.

Bird is a boxer of experience and won considerable attention in the army, where he fought some first class men.

FLUSHING EWES INCREASES LAMB YIELD, TESTS REVEAL

In six years' work the United States Department of Agriculture has found that by extra feeding (commonly called "flushing") at breeding time, its Southdown ewes yielded 198 more lambs per 1,000 ewes than Southdown ewes otherwise given the same care and kept under the same conditions.

Good blue grass, mixed timothy and clover, or soy bean pasture if available, furnish the most satisfactory and economical means of flushing; but if a drought has prevented good pasture, a supplementary grain ration has been found to give approximately as good results in increasing the number of lambs as the extra good pasture. A ration of oats alone, or equal parts by measure of corn, oats and bran in the amount of about one-half to three-fourths pound per ewe per day, is a good one to use.

Flushing increases the size of the lamb crop in two ways—it puts the ewes in better condition to make sure of their getting in lamb and it increases the proportion of twin lambs. Sheep breeders are constantly striving to increase the proportion of lambs to the number of ewes in their flocks, but they have, in most cases, paid little attention to the condition of the ewes at breeding time. A little extra care and attention just as the breeding season opens will bring results next spring.

PROMPT ACTION AGAINST HOG CHOLERA SAVES HEAVY LOSS

Watch for the first hog to show signs of cholera, advises the United States Department of Agriculture. If the herd is treated immediately it is generally possible to save the herd with but few losses. If the disease, however, is allowed to reach all the animals before the serum or preventive treatment is applied heavy losses may be expected. Another cholera serum is a preventive and not a cure for hog cholera, the department points out.

Whenever a hog dies of an unknown cause the owner should watch his herd closely for at least a week, and if any more hogs in the herd begin to show signs of sickness, a veterinarian should be called immediately, for the chances are that hog cholera has reached the herd and prompt action in applying the serum treatment is the only thing that will save the well and mals. A high temperature, ranging from 105 degrees to 108 degrees F., in a hog that staggers when it walks is a pretty good indication of hog cholera. Such hogs should be segregated and not allowed to mingle with other hogs or to wander about for they will spread the disease wherever they go, sometimes in places where it is impossible to disinfect. Hogs that die on the farm should be buried, or, preferably burned, in order to prevent birds, insects and animals that visit the carcass from spreading the disease.

Usually the disease is most prevalent during the fall months and losses are invariably heavy in herds where owners neglect to immunize their hogs before the disease reaches them, or fail to call a veterinarian immediately on its first appearance.

Wish you boys would "give down" a little. Sure need it! Old Mac. 72-2c.

Grand Champion Boar

Transmission, raised and entered by Bourland & Sharp, who won the grand championship and senior championship of the Childress county fair recently, was awarded like honors at the Wilbarger county fair yesterday. He will be entered at the State fair at Dallas this fall.

RAPID STRIDES MADE IN STOCK INDUSTRY

FINE TYPES OF PURE-BRED
ANIMALS ON EXHIBITION AT FAIR

The strides made by Wilbarger county in the raising of pure-bred livestock could find no better concrete expression than in the exhibits at the fair this year. Some of the best known breeders have been encouraged by their success in winning honors at other fairs in West Texas, and, deriving still further encouragement from the splendid showing made at fair park here, they are planning to invade the state fair at Dallas this fall and enter their stuff against the stiffest competition the United States affords.

J. L. Hunter, county agent of Childress county, acted as judge in the livestock department. Winners were announced as follows:

In swine, aged boar class, Bourland and Sharp won on Transmission. They had no competition in this class. On Senior boar, J. C. Gayer won on Peter Winn, with no competition. On junior boar, first prize went to J. C. Gayer, second to Avey Boaz and third to Bourland and Sharp. On junior pigs, J. L. Moore of Chillicothe, won first and second, and C. L. Moore of Oklaunion, third.

Bourland and Sharp took first and second places on aged sows, while Logan Creager won third. Bourland and Sharp won on senior sow, with no competition and were awarded first and second ribbons on junior yearling sows. Miss Lorell Dobbins won first on senior sow pig, entering a pig club animal, and J. C. Gayer took second and third.

On junior sow pigs, Bourland and Sharp first and third, Thomas Chapman, second. Young Chapman's entry also went in the pig club competition. Senior champion boar, Bourland and Sharp, on Transmission. Junior champion boar, J. H. Moore. Transmission won high honors of the swine department as grand champion boar. He won like recognition recently at the Childress fair.

In the boys' pig club, Miss Lorell Dobbins won first on senior sow pig and Boyle Butler second, in the Fat and China class. Glen Parmley won first in the same division, showing a Duroc Jersey. Miss Dobbins was awarded the grand championship, over Parmley's entry. Thomas Chapman won first in the junior sow pig class, Joe Sherbert second, and Oscar Hale third. Chapman and Miss Dobbins are winners of the free trip to the Dallas fair, offered by the pig club.

S. J. Paschall, showing in the open competition, won first, second and third on junior pigs, and first on junior boar in the Duroc Jerseys. Glenn Parmley, pig club member, won first on senior boar pig and senior championship in the Duroc Jerseys.

M. C. Neal of Odell won first on shorthorn aged bull, first and second on senior yearling bulls, first on junior bull calf, first on aged cow and first on junior heifer yearling.

Miss Laura Lee Hall took the blue ribbon on baby beef, showing a milk type registered Durham bred by her grandfather, J. H. Carpenter, who resides eight miles south of Vernon. The animal was sold Thursday to J. H. Kinchelee for $100.

C. H. Reynolds won first prize on aged bull in the Holstein class, with an animal shined to this country from Clairmont, N. H. His bull is three years old and weighs 1,600 pounds.

John Hawley took first and second awards in the aged cow section. His blue ribbon winner has a record of eight gallons of milk a day for eight consecutive months. His second prize winner was shipped here by J. T. Oates.

Young Wheeler won first prize on a bull calf, in the Jersey exhibit. Andy Paschall took first on aged cow, and J. T. Oates second. Mr. Paschall has been a raiser of pure-bred Jerseys for many years. His blue ribbon winner is from his original herd. Mr. Oates is at present handling Jersey cattle on quite an extensive scale.

James O'Neal of Doans won first prizes on stallion and jack. He is a veteran breeder of fine horses and mules.

GROUND GRAIN NEEDED PART OF RATION FOR LAYING HEN

A mash composed of ground grains or their by-products and some form of animal protein is an essential part of a ration for both growing chickens and laying hens. The reason is that birds putting on growth or producing eggs can not assimilate enough nutriment from whole or cracked grains to supply the maximum need. When the grain is ground, says the United States Department of Agriculture, little work is required of the gizzard, and much more of the feed can be used in making flesh or eggs.

The scratch grain part of the ration, however, is needed to give the gizzard something to do in order to keep the birds in health. For laying hens the scratch grain thrown in the litter provides an incentive to needed exercise.

It was once thought that the mash should be fed wet to produce the best results, but experiments have proved that in spite of the slightly better palatability of the wet feed, the convenience of feeding it dry overbalances any slight gain in production. Feeding it dry is now the usual method. Digestibility is not increased by wetting.

The principal objection to the wet mash is that it requires too much labor. It must be moistened, then carried to the hens once a day, and the troughs must be cleaned after each feeding. Cleanliness is absolutely essential, because indigestion and diarrhea will result from feeding in dirty troughs. On the other hand, the dry mash hopper may be filled once a week or even less frequently, and needs no further attention. Hens do not overeat of dry mash as they sometimes do of wet feed.

It is often a problem to serve feeds that appeal to appetites made fickle by hot weather. Meat salads are excellent for either lunch or supper, suggests the United States Department of Agriculture. Any cold left-over meat (beef, pork, veal or lamb) may be used. Cut the meat into cubes and mix it with diced cucumber, celery, radishes or onions or any other preferred combination of crisp vegetables, season well, and, if desired, mix with a little oil and vinegar. Serve with lettuce or shredded cabbage and mayonnaise or boiled dressing.

RADIO ON THE FARMS

The isolation of the farms, the feeling of being shut out from the world of bright lights and manifold gayeties as represented by life in the cities, has been completely broken by inventions and developments of science in the last few decades. First came the telephone, linking rural communities and farm houses with the world, then the automobile and good roads, reducing the inconvenience of the city from hours to minutes in point of time to farm dwellers.

And now we have the radio, most wonderful of all time and distance saving devices of science. It seems fairly certain that the radiophone is with us permanently, to play a constantly increasing part in the social and industrial life of the people.

Today many boys and girls on Wil-barger county farms listen to baseball reports, tuning by hunking. They will hear the results of the Dixie championship games as they are played and of the national championship games, several hours before these same results are available here in the papers.

Tonight they may listen to a musical concert, broadcast from Dallas or Houston or Atlanta, Ga., or perhaps from one of the giant stations in New York or New Jersey. They may hear the voices of famous singers, reproduced with minute faithfulness, and the cadence of violin music as the hand of a master pulsates on the strings.
They may hear a sermon preached by a minister in Denver, Colo., or even Spokane, Wash., and the crop reports or weather forecasts of the government.

The cost of a radio outfit varies to suit all purses. Many ambitious boys have constructed small receiving sets at an expense not exceeding 30 cents.

Radio has broken the last barrier to the isolation of the farms. Together with other modern inventions, it has enabled farmers to enjoy all the conveniences, comforts and refinements accessible to dwellers in the city. It has been partially responsible and will be increasingly so in hastening the "back-to-the-farm" movement which a few years ago was largely newspaper talk, but which is becoming an actuality over the Southwest.

A GAS SYSTEM NEEDED

With its splendid school system,
good churches, paved streets, library, water, electricity, sewerage system and many other improvements, Vernon will compare favorably in public utilities and institutions with any other city its size in Texas. But there is one important respect in which this city is lacking, and that is in gas.

It is the belief of the Record that a city built along such permanent lines as Vernon, surrounded by a rich tract of territory and giving every evidence of steady growth in the future, furnishes a field which should appeal strongly to utility corporations seeking a reasonable return on their investments, with the assurance of future growth.

There has been more or less discussion for some time relative to securing a gas system to serve Vernon. As far as is known, no accurate figures on the cost of installing such a system have been prepared, and no comprehensive survey made to determine the distance to the nearest adequate gas supply.

There is gas at Electra and there is said to be a supply of gas within six or eight miles of Vernon. The extent of these two sources and their probable longevity remain to be determined.

To the west is the Amarillo gas field, miles in extent and said by many practical oil men to be the largest natural gas reservoir in America, if not in the world. Between Vernon and the east edge of this field are a number of prosperous towns and cities which are without gas and which would doubtless welcome the opportunity to secure gas at a reasonable price.

In their plans for the future, Vernon civic organizations and citizens should keep in mind that eventually Vernon will have natural or artificial gas from some source. The sooner it can be secured the better for the town.

Two district dairy calf shows were held in New Castle county, Del., August 3 and 4, where club members demonstrated to dairy farmers their ability in selecting dairy animals and fitting them for exhibitions, as trained by extension workers. Ninety farm boys and girls are reported to the United States Department of Agriculture as having been enrolled in dairy calf clubs in this county in the past four years, resulting in a noticeable increase of pure-bred dairy animals kept by adult farmers.

A. P. Howard, has gone to attend the medical college of the state university.

itary academy of Columbia, Tenn.,

Georgia farmers shipped 19 carloads first six months of 1922, according to reports to the United States Department of Agriculture. This poultry was fed, managed, and standardized for shipment as recommended by state and county extension workers.

STORIES OF GREAT INDIANS

By Elmo Scott Watson

Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union.
GERONIMO, THE "WORST IN-DIAN WHO EVER LIVED"

WEBSTER'S dictionary contains at least one unintentionally grim bit of humor. "Geronimo, a Chiricahua Apache chief, flourished about 1880," reads one entry in the biographical section. Just how well this Geronimo "flourished" only the residents of New Mexico and Arizona and the soldiers who chased him can tell. They called him the "Indian Devil," the "Apache Terror" and the "worst Indian who ever lived." His mother named him Go-Yath-Lay, "The Yawner"; the Mexicans nicknamed him Geronimo, Spanish for Jerome.

Like Sitting Bull of the Sioux, Geronimo was a much press-agented and eventually a highly-overrated Indian. Although he was a daring war leader, he was not a chief. The massacre of his whole family by Mexicans in the early '60's sent him on the warpath against them. The blundering policy of our government towards the Apaches was largely responsible for his hostility toward Americans.

It is difficult to justify thus some of the cruelties practiced by Geronimo and his Chiricahua warriors, past masters in the art of hideous torture.
This is what they did to one prospector, who had been wounded but not fatally: Cutting off the soles of his feet the Apaches staked him down over a red ant hill. There, instead of killing him, they let the ants finish the job.

When the government tried to settle the Chiricahuas on the San Carlos reservation, Arizona, in 1876, Geronimo and some of the other young leaders fled to Mexico. He came on the reservation later, but from that time until 1884 it was a case of "on again, off again" with Geronimo. Then he led our soldiers a merry chase of more than 3,000 miles all over the Southwest and in 1886 was finally brought to bay in Mexico by Capt. H. W. Lawton.

Geronimo acquired his widest notoriety while he was a prisoner of war at Fort Sill, Okla. He was taken to the Buffalo and Omaha expositions, but he was still a hostile at heart and turned his face away from the crowds. In 1903 he adopted the Christian religion and became a devout church-goer. He joined a Wild West show and in 1904
he attended the St. Louis exposition, where he almost got writer's cramp from printing his autograph to sell.

The last years of his life were spent in trying to persuade the government to return him to his old home in Arizona. He was unsuccessful and when he died February 21, 1909, although he had gone on his last war trail nearly a quarter of a century before, he was still a prisoner of war.

AIRPLANE LANDS ON WATER OR ON LAND.

The Amphibus is the largest type of airplane developed by the U. S. Navy. It lands on sea or land. Recently one had trouble with its valves. It landed on the water, climbed the bank to land, took the road and taxied to a blacksmith shop, where the damage was repaired, and the airship soared away from the land.

Foster's Bulletin.

Washington, Sept. 20.—October will end that type of weather experienced during the past five months and eastern sections of the continent will be pleased to know that the excessive humidity of the past four months will gradually decrease after Nov. 1. But the decrease will be slow, the new source of continental moisture will slowly take the place of the old, while rainfall will not only change places, but, as a whole, gradually decrease.
In studying these forecasts don't forget that when rainfall comes and severe storms are the cause and that some months have no severe storms.
At the end of October farmers will know whether they can get a good stand of winter grain for next year's crops. Southern farmers sow winter grain in the winter months. Mexico and Central America must meet a disastrous drought within two years from Nov. 1.

I hold that the motive power of the universe comes from the condensation of matter that comes from outer space and is condensed within the electrospheres that surround sun, earth and all other solar system bodies, the incubative being to furnish building material to these bodies which are constantly growing; that the ether of outer space cannot enter the electrosphere till organized into some of the gases that make up our atmosphere; that the outer planets catch this incoming ether, extract from its substance the residual passes to the next planet and so on till the final residual reaches the sun as its building material; my experiments prove this to be true and

SCHROEDER ACCEPTS C. I. A. POSITION

FORMER RECORD EDITOR TO HEAD THE DENTON SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM.

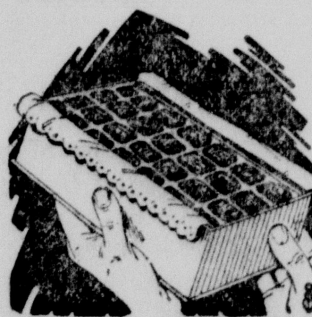

Eric G. Schroeder, former managing editor of the Record, has accepted the chair of journalism at the College of Industrial Arts at Denton and will leave Vernon for that place tonight to take up the duties of his new position. It became known today.

Mr. Schroeder, who is a graduate of the University of Missouri School of Journalism, came to Vernon in the Spring of 1920 and associated himself with the Vernon Record. He held the position of associate editor of the Record under Buford O. Brown until January, 1922. When Mr. Brown sold his interest in the plant and moved to Electra to become editor of the Electra News, Mr. Schroeder took the position of managing editor of the Record.

An Able Writer
Twenty-six, talented, brilliant, a natural writer and a tireless worker, Mr. Schroeder made rapid progress in his chosen profession. His work with the Record was of a quality seldom seen in a country newspaper. In addition to his repertorial and editorial work with the Record, Mr. Schroeder was special correspondent for several of the big Texas dailies, and through his efforts many important news items from Wilbarger have been carried by the state papers during the past two years.

During the two and one-half years of Mr. Schroeder's practical newspaper work he has developed a wide and favorable reputation in Texas as a feature writer. The big Texas dailies have frequently carried his articles built around the feature story plan, practically all of which dealt with Wilbarger county subjects. These stories have attracted the attention of the best newspaper men of the state, because of their quality and especially have the citizens of Vernon and Wilbarger county appreciated the journalistic work of this young Missourian.

At a recent meeting of the Northwest Texas Press Association at Wichita Falls, Mr. Schroeder made a brief address on feature writing. His speech

Will You Help the Democratic Party to Win This Campaign?

If so the most helpful thing you can do now is to contribute to the Democratic Educational Campaign Fund so that the Educational work of the Democratic National Committee can be carried out as planned.

The Democratic National Committee Needs Money And Needs It NOW.

For the purpose of getting the record of failure of this Republican Do-Nothing Congress and Do-Nothing Administration before the people, and to show them again the road to Democratic Prosperity, which they traveled for eight years of Democratic rule.

Send Your Contribution Today to the Record

The Democratic National Committee has arranged with the publisher of The Vernon Record to receive and receipt for contributions. A duplicate receipt will be mailed from Democratic National Headquarters.

Give What You Can Afford—Much or Little—But Give It Now

The Democratic Party has no privileged classes, no protected profiteers, no trusts or moneybunds to appeal to. It represents only the people, therefore it appeals only to them.

This is a Democratic Year. Do your share to help win the Victory.

Democratic Prosperity vs. Republican Disaster

The estimated wealth of the United States when President Wilson went into office in 1913 was $155,000,000,000; it increased to $200,000,000,000 in eight years of Democratic rule—a gain of $45,000,000,000. The present estimated wealth of the United States is $225,000,000,000—a loss of $75,000,000,000 in fifteen months under Republican rule.

Since the Republican party was voted into power in November, 1920, the American farmers alone have suffered a loss of near $30,000,000,000.

Some Republican Broken Promises

The Republicans promised the country PROSPERITY; they have given it ADVERSITY.

They promised to stimulate agriculture and business; they have given an industrial panic and destroyed our foreign markets. Foreign trade declined from $13,500,000,000 in 1920 to near $6,000,000,000 in 1922.

They promised to reduce taxes; they have shifted taxes of the multi-millionaire and profiteering class to the smaller taxpayers without lifting taxes or reducing them. Repeal of the Excess Profits tax relieved the Big interests of paying $450,000,000 in taxes; reduction of the higher surtax relieved them of paying $61,500,000.

They promised to reduce the high cost of living; they have given a Profiteers' tariff bill which increases the high cost of living, and makes the farmer pay $5 on everything he buys for each $1 of "protection" he gets.

They promised to reduce the expenses of the government; they have increased the expenses of running the various departments of the government 1923 budget, three years after the war $538,000,000 compared to 1915, three years before the war, with an estimated deficit of $500,000,000 in addition—or $1,000,000,000 increase.

EDUCATOR STARTS 17TH YEAR HERE

HOLCOMB TRAINING SCHOOL
FIRST HELD IN EPISCOPAL CHURCH

B. F. Holcomb, founder and president of Holcomb's Training School, is entering into his seventeenth year in Vernon as an instructor in the schools in this city. For eight years Mr. Holcomb was superintendent of Vernon schools, prior to his establishment of the training school which bears his name. Nine years ago at the close of his term as city superintendent, Mr. Holcomb established a small private school in the Episcopal church with himself as the only teacher.

These quarters becoming cramped, at the close of the first year the school was moved to the old jail, which was leased for a term of years. Three years later Mr. Holcomb purchased the building where the school is housed now at the corner of Yamparika and Lexington and added a number of improvements.

The building, situated in the south east section of Vernon, is a two story. On the ground floor are five class rooms and the president's office and a study hall. Eight rooms above have been converted into a girls' dormitory, with Mrs. Blanche Dow as matron. Here the girls for a nominal sum may room, do their own cooking and laundry work.

Courses taught at this school include: college, college preparatory, book keeping, banking and stenography. The work in all departments is very thorough and under the supervision of the president.

The faculty is composed of the following teachers: B. F. Holcomb, president, mathematics, Mrs. Vera Joe Jackson, bookkeeping, Mrs. Blanche Dow, secretary, Miss Gladys Holcomb, primary, Mrs. Dow and Miss Warner are teaching their first terms here. Mrs. Dow is from Oklahoma City and Miss Warner from Waurika, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. McDougal, also members of the faculty, have been granted a year's leave of absence and are in Houston, where Mr. McDougal has entered Rice Institute and Mrs. McDougal has accepted a position as secretary to the superintendent of the Houston schools.

Thirty students have enrolled this term and several more have written that they would arrive about October 1 for the fall term.

FOR CHILDREN'S BIRTHDAYS... A PUREBRED PIG OR CALF

In selecting birthday and Christmas gifts for children in rural communities, why not give a purebred pig, calf or other animal? This is the suggestion of the United States Department of Agriculture, which, with the various states is conducting the "Better Stock—Better Stock" campaign. A recent questionnaire study of the utility value of purebred live stock showed, among other results, that home influence is an important factor governing the breeding of superior domestic animals. In fact, it ranks in importance next to sales, fairs and shows, taken collectively. When parents show their interest in good stock the children are more likely to do so.

One breeder told of receiving a wedding gift from his father-in-law. That beginning was an important influence, which resulted in an entire herd of well bred profitable animals, a practical influence in the couple's prosperity and happiness.

Gifts of good livestock, the department points out, are not only acceptable in themselves but with proper handling multiply and give pleasure, satisfaction and financial benefits for an indefinite period.

the exhibition building and the latter in a small building near the entrance of the park. The receiving set attracted probably as big a crowd as any other feature of the fair. Programs from a number of places were picked up Wednesday, Thursday and today. A loud speaker has been connected up to the receiving set, in addition to a head-piece. The Vernon Electric company is cooperating with a field agent of the Sereheno company in furnishing this feature of the entertainment. Many persons heard a loud speaker for the first time, this week, while to a large number of boys who are radio "fans" every detail of the apparatus was familiar.

Terhune-Orr Exhibit

The Terhune-Orr Implement company has an exhibit of farm machinery manufactured by the International Harvester company. The exhibit includes an International Harvester company farm tractor, a disc trailer to be used with the tractor, a Superior grain drill, a cotton and corn planter, a three disc plow, a Weber farm wagon, a primrose cream separator, and an International motor truck.

The Southwestern Implement company is showing its line of John Deere machinery. Included in the farm implements on display is a lister, which will be given away at the company's store at 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Other implements being shown are one and two row cultivators, a Van Brunt ten-runner drill, a disc harrow, and a No. 19 John Deere tractor disc. A bale of hay put up by Buford Luttrell with a John Deere hay baler also is being shown.

Tractors on Display

Napier Bros. Motor company, Ford agent, is displaying a Fordson tractor and other Ford factory products. The little tractor is very interesting for it does "all that a mule can do," says the agent, "and more too." A three row lister-cultivator is being shown also and will be hooked up to the Fordson Saturday when an exhibition of plowing will be made. Other tractors will also enter into competition against the little Fordson and a plowing exhibition will be given on a plot of ground just north of the machinery exhibit.

House Built of Flour

One of the most artistically arranged booths in the hall is the Kell Milling company's exhibit. Out of such a prosaic but essential product as flour the company has a beautiful thing.

The walls are lined with sacks of flour, starting at the floor with the giant Hercules sacks, then comes the second grade followed by the Belle of Vernon, the highest grade. The sacks near the roof are the smaller ones containing Belle of Vernon flour. The ceiling has flour sacks for drapery and the floor is covered with the bran and shorts to represent sawdust. Near the front of the booth is a display of 22 jars showing the different steps in flour making, starting with the virgin wheat and topped off with the Belle of Vernon flour. A huge loaf of bread is in the foreground and presiding over it all is a wax figure which represents "La Belle de Vernon."

Many Musical Instruments

Paul Goetze, noted teacher of music, and his brother have on display two pianos and a player piano in a booth in the exhibit hall. Several kinds of horns and stringed instruments also are displayed. The booth is one of the most popular places on the grounds. The player piano is busy nearly all the time playing fox trots and jazzes that put life into the feet of the onlooker and several impromptu dances have been staged.

A piece of sheet music is given each person who registers at this booth.

BEAUTY REVEALS PLOT ON BOSTON OFFICIAL.

Mrs. Frances S. Murphy, an actress, has confessed to the officials her part in an alleged plot to lure Attorney-General J. Weston Allen to her apartment in the Back Bay district. She named a prominent Boston attorney in the alleged plot. The Attorney-General failed to fall for the trap. Mrs. Murphy declares she was to have received $10,000 as her share had the blackmail plot gone through.

The Deleo lighting system is being showed by C. M. Ladd, local dealer, who has sold quite a number of these "gloom chasers" in this and adjoining counties. A washing machine, and other labor saving devices are included in this division. A recent addition to the Deleo system is an ice machine that makes its own ice. It is the aim and object of this company, says the local dealer to make living conditions on the farm so akin to those of the city that it will not be necessary to preach a "back to the farm" movement.

Vernon high school made its first display at the fair this year and though the exhibit is small it is quite complete. Only the manual training and domestic science departments are represented. From the domestic science department the girls have a beautiful display of clothing and bed linens, which compare favorably with work done by the girls' clubs over the county. For it must be remembered that domestic science was taught in the county for several years before it was introduced into the high school here.

Kimono, girls' waists, house dresses and school dresses, underwear, rompers, guest towels, bed linens and dainty hand made handkerchiefs are on display.

From the manual training department are shown tables, tabourets, hall trees, a writing desk and four chests really handsome pieces of furniture and all made by the boys of Vernon high school.

RAILROADS ANNOUNCE STATE FAIR RATES

Fare and a Fifth for Round Trip to Dallas, Oct. 6-15.

SAVINGS ON ADMISSIONS TO STATE FAIR ALSO

Announcement of a round trip rate of a fare and a fifth, from all points in Texas, to Dallas, for the State Fair of Texas, Oct. 6-15, has been made individually by all railroads in Texas. Similar announcement of materially reduced rates has also been made by the Texas Electric Railway Company, operating interurban lines into Dallas.

The reduced rates will be effective Oct. 5, and will continue good until Oct. 16 inclusive. Tickets will be on sale at all stations in Texas on Oct. 5, and will be good for return leaving Dallas as late as midnight of Oct. 16.

This is the most attractive rate it has been possible for the carriers to grant in several years, and it is expected that travel to Dallas and attendance upon the 1922 State Fair, will be greatly increased as a result.

STATE FAIR POULTRY HEAD EXPECTS FINE SHOW

Walter Burton, superintendent of the poultry department, State Fair of Texas, left for Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 1, to attend the national poultry meeting. Mr. Burton will tell the poultry fanciers gathered from all over the country, about the State Fair show. He expects a larger number of exhibits at the Dallas show than ever before, and a larger attendance generally. Entries for the State Fair poultry show close on Sept. 25.

HAILSTONES KILL STOCK AND HURT PEOPLE ON TRAIN

Speaking of hailstorms, it is seldom that even the oldest inhabitant can beat this report sent in to the United States Department of Agriculture by one of the field workers at a station in Colorado:

Most of the hailstorms have occurred since the winter wheat was harvested. In some sections such severe storms were experienced that corn and row crops were cut to the ground, small pigs and poultry were killed outright and buildings were severely damaged.

A St. Louis and Denver train on the Burlington line was caught in a very severe storm and was compelled to stop until the storm passed over. During the storm all of the windows and ventilators on the north side of the coaches and many of those on the north side were broken out. The hail stones were said to be simply pieces of rough ice, many of them the size of hen eggs. The stones were so large and driven with such a strong wind that they went through both sashes and the screen in the Pullman car windows. Where the curtains were pulled down as a last resort, they were ripped to shreds. The passengers took refuge under the seats on the north side of the cars. After the storm the hall was said to be several inches deep over the floors of the cars, and when the train was finally able to pull into Akron, a distance of 4 miles, many of the passengers were given medical treatment for gashes made by flying glass and bruises from the hailstones. The train was abandoned at Akron and a new train made up to carry the passengers on East.

Wish you boys would "give down" a little. Sure need it! Old Mac. 72-2c.

MILK GOAT GIVES GALLON PER DAY

H. E. HOFFMAN PLANS TO RAISE TOGGENBURG MILKERS ON LARGE SCALE HERE.

People usually think of a goat as a pesky sort of an animal which is fond of climbing the chimney to bask on the roof or clambering to the top of the new car to sample the shiny cloth. His diet is popularly understood to be a mixture of old tin cans, clothing, grass and gentle stimulants such as rat poison or Paris Green. He is respected on account of his driving tactics, and often puts a person on the defensive.

But H. E. Hoffman of Vernon has a breed of goats which upset all these notions. Three of them were placed on exhibition this week at the Wilbarger county fair. They are Toggenburg milk goats, pure-blooded, registered stuff, and their ancestors came from the Swiss mountains. A male goat, a grown dam and a female kid were shown at the fair.

The female goat at present gives four quarts a day, but she has given as high as seven quarts a day, Mr. Hoffman said. The goats are free from odor, and there is no odor to the milk, he stated. They are also said to be immune from tuberculosis and other diseases which sometimes render cow's milk dangerous for human consumption.

Only five Swiss milk goats are in the county at present, according to Mr. Hoffman. He is planning to start raising them on an extensive scale. Their milk is twice as rich in butter fat as cow's milk, he pointed out, and is exceptionally fine for infants and invalids. They are good foragers and will keep in condition on very little feed.

"CHARITY AT HOME" IS MINISTER'S PLEA

REV. E. L. MOORE POINTS TO NEED OF FUNDS TO CARE FOR NEEDY HERE.

Rev. E. L. Moore, pastor of the Presbyterian church and chairman of the Vernon Welfare association, in a written statement, calls attention to the fact that at his season of the year, when many organizations are engaged in efforts to raise money for outside projects, the needs of the local field should not be neglected. A number of persons here are in want, he says, and deserves assistance. His letter follows:

"The time of year is approaching when various and sundry organizations usually put on drives for funds to finance their work. Already plans are being made and promoters are being sent out for this purpose.

"The writer has been chairman of the Welfare Association for the past year and has spent much time in investigating and considering scores of applications for help that have come before the Welfare committee. The need has been great. There exists in our city some conditions under which people are trying to work and live that are incredible to those who do not know the circumstances.

"Every indication points to much greater need this coming winter than we have ever known before. The funds in the treasury of the Welfare Association are now almost completely exhausted. If we meet our obligations to our own unfortunate and soon we must make a canvass to replenish the charity fund.

"I have always heard that charity begins at home and I am not ashamed to say that I believe it. The people who live among us, our neighbors and those whom chance has thrown among us, that may need our help, are, as I believe, entitled to our first consideration. I see no good reason why we should send hundreds of dollars away from home to help people we do not know about, and to pay salaries or bonuses to agents and promoters when there is great need at our door and where every cent we give will be directed to the specific end for which it is given.

"I would cast no imputation on any person or institution, if you feel able and willing to assist any or all of these drives you are at liberty to do so as a free citizen, but you cannot give to them and refuse to help those among us, whom we know are in need, and not, in my opinion, violate your chief obligation in the matter of charity. Think on these things."

No Open Season on Wood Ducks

The close season on wood ducks, which has been in effect since 1918 under the provisions of the migratory bird treaty act, will continue during the hunting season this fall, according to the Bureau of Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture. These birds may not be killed anywhere in the United States. The wood duck, or summer duck, as it is commonly known in many localities, is one of the most beautiful of native game birds, and breeds practically throughout the United States. Formerly it was threatened with extinction, but under the protection afforded by the migratory treaty act during the past few years its numbers are now beginning to show an increase. Elder ducks and swans are also protected throughout the year.

Grand Jury Returns 21 Bills

Twenty-one bills were found by the grand jury which was impaneled the first week of the September term of the district court here and was dismissed last week.

Thirteen were felony indictments and eight for misdemeanors.

In its report the grand jury asked that an annex be built to the county jail, as the present quarters are inadequate. Boys sent there for their first offense are forced on account of crowded conditions to be thrown in contact with hardened criminals, it was stated. The women's cells are placed near the negro quarters, because lack of room, forces this to be done. It is also asked that a bath room be partitioned off in the runaround for the prisoners.

Fast and reckless driving by motorists is condemned and officers are blamed for negligence in enforcing the law pertaining to motorists.

ENEMIES OF CATTLE DIPPING HELP REPAIR DAMAGED VATS

Wanton destruction of cattle-dipping vats in Echols county, Ga., early in the summer, interrupted systematic tick eradication there only temporarily according to the United States Department of Agriculture. As events turned out, many persons who opposed the dipping of cattle are now engaged in repairing the vats and in building new ones so that their cattle can be dipped regularly and conveniently at points near their homes. Although the destruction of vats by a lawless element was given wide publicity throughout the country, records of the Department of Agriculture show that during the month of August practically all the cattle in Echols county were dipped under Federal or State supervision.

Most opposition to the eradication of cattle ticks results from unfamiliarity with the purpose and benefits of the work or from unwillingness to receive a formation on the subject. More than 15 years of experience in conducting systematic dipping has enabled the Department of Agriculture to meet all situations and opposition encountered up to the present time. The usual educational work is generally effective, but additional persuasion and combined with law enforcement is at times necessary.

GO TO THEATRE

Monday and Tuesday "The Light in the Clearing." Irving Batchelor's first screen novel will be shown. Mr. Batchelor until now has belonged to that class of authors who frowned upon the adaptation of their stories to the silver sheet, but T. Hayes Hunter, director, has this to say about the screening of modern stories:

"The stories from the hands of the recognized novelists are always written expressly for the printed page and not for the screen; consequently the skillful craftsman who molds the tale as best suits its screen transcription should be left to follow his own desires."

"Irving Batchelor, who has for years stood with the anti-cinema literary element, has finally succumbed to the lure of the shadow sheet, and has given a carte blanche concession to the continuity writer to do with the story as he—the adapter—thinks best."

"In my present production of Mr. Batchelor's first screen novel, 'The Light in the Clearing'—for the Dial Film Company, I hope to produce a superior picture to 'Earthbound,' and if the photoplay version of Mr. Batchelor's largest selling novel is as big a success as I hope it will be, Mr. Batchelor is to be congratulated for his concession."

"The case who are visualizing Mr. Batchelor's most recent literary work, include the names of Clara Horton, Eddie Sutherland, Eugenia Besserer, Frank Leigh, George Hackathorne and Andrew Arbuckle."

VERNON AND CROWELL LADS
MATCHED FOR BOUT
SEPTEMBER 29.

Dick Bowers, pulchy Vernon fighter, and Eddie Bird, seasoned miller of Crowell, have been matched for another bout at Vernon Sept. 29, according to C. E. Gilliland, who for the past eight months has been managing Bowers. The fight will be held at the Peck building on North Main street. Three preliminaries of four or possibly six rounds will be arranged. Mr. Gilliland said.

Bowers and Bird fought an eight-round draw here recently, and according to the former's manager there has been a popular demand for another engagement. Bowers had a bad ear in the last go, which bothered him some, but is now all right, the promoter stated.

The Vernon lad weighed in at 128 pounds before the previous bout with Bird, while the latter tipped the scales at 135. He has agreed to make 130 for the coming fight.

Bowers has 14 knockouts to his credit and has won 15 fights on points, according to his manager, and during this time has suffered no defeats and been accorded only two draws.

Bird is a boxer of experience and won considerable attention in the army, where he fought some first class men.

FLUSHING EWES INCREASES LAMB YIELD, TESTS REVEAL

In six years' work the United States Department of Agriculture has found that by extra feeding (commonly called "flushing") at breeding time, its Southdown ewes yielded 198 more lambs per 1,000 ewes than Southdown ewes otherwise given the same care and kept under the same conditions.

Good blue grass, mixed timothy and clover, or soy bean pasture if available, furnish the most satisfactory and economical means of flushing; but if a drought has prevented good pasture, a supplementary grain ration has been found to give approximately as good results in increasing the number of lambs as the extra good pasture. A ration of oats alone, or equal parts by measure of corn, oats and bran in the amount of about one-half to three-fourths pound per ewe per day, is a good one to use.

Flushing increases the size of the lamb crop in two ways—it puts the ewes in better condition to make sure of their getting in lamb and it increases the proportion of twin lambs. Sheep breeders are constantly striving to increase the proportion of lambs to the number of ewes in their flocks, but they have, in most cases, paid little attention to the condition of the ewes at breeding time. A little extra care and attention just as the breeding season opens will bring results next spring.

Watch for the first hog to show signs of cholera, advises the United States Department of Agriculture. If the herd is treated immediately it is generally possible to save the herd with but few losses. If the disease, however, is allowed to reach all the animals before the serum or preventive treatment is applied heavy losses may be expected. Another cholera serum is a preventive and not a cure for hog cholera, the department points out.

Whenever a hog dies of an unknown cause the owner should watch his herd closely for at least a week, and if any more hogs in the herd begin to show signs of sickness, a veterinarian should be called immediately, for the chances are that hog cholera has reached the herd and prompt action in applying the serum treatment is the only thing that will save the well animals. A high temperature, ranging from 105 degrees to 108 degrees F., in a hog that staggers when it walks is a pretty good indication of hog cholera. Such hogs should be segregated and not allowed to mingle with other hogs or to wander about for they will spread the disease wherever they go, sometimes in places where it is impossible to disinfect. Hogs that die on the farm should be buried, or, preferably burned, in order to prevent birds, insects and animals that visit the carcass from spreading the disease.

Usually the disease is most prevalent during the fall months and losses are invariably heavy in herds where owners neglect to immunize their hogs before the disease reaches them, or fail to call a veterinarian immediately on its first appearance.

Wish you boys would "give down" a little. Sure need it! Old Mac. 72-2c.

Grand Champion Boar

Transmission, raised and entered by Bourland & Sharp, who won the grand championship and senior championship of the Childress county fair recently, was awarded like honors at the Wilbarger county fair yesterday. He will be entered at the State fair at Dallas this fall.

FINE TYPES OF PURE-BRED
ANIMALS ON EXHIBI
TION AT FAIR

The strides made by Wilbarger county in the raising of pure-bred livestock could find no better concrete expression than in the exhibits at the fair this year. Some of the best known breeders have been encouraged by their success in winning honors at other fairs in West Texas, and, deriving still further encouragement from the splendid showing made at fair park here, they are planning to invade the state fair at Dallas this fall and enter their stuff against the stiffest competition the United States affords.

J. L. Hunter, county agent of Childress county, acted as judge in the livestock department. Winners were announced as follows:

In swine, aged boar class, Bourland and Sharp won on Transmission. They had no competition in this class. On senior boar, J. C. Guyer won on Peter Winn, with no competition. On junior boar, first prize went to J. C. Guyer, second to Aey Boaz and third to Bourland and Sharp. On junior pigs, J. L. Moore of Chillicothe, won first and second and C. L. Moore of Oklaunion, third.

Bourland and Sharp took first and second places on aged sows, while Logan Croager won third. Bourland and Sharp won on senior sow, with no competition and were awarded first and second ribbons on junior yearling sows. Miss Lorell Dobbins won first on senior sow pig, entering a pig club animal, and J. C. Guyer took second and third.

On junior sow pigs, Bourland and Sharp first and third, Thomas Chapman, second. Young Chapman's entry also went in the pig club competition.

Senior champion boar, Bourland and Sharp, on Transmission. Junior champion boar, J. H. Moore. Transmission won high honors of the swine department as grand champion boar. He won like recognition recently at the Childress fair.

In the boys' pig club, Miss Lorell Dobbins won first on senior sow pig and Boydie Butler second. In the Fat and China class, Glen Parmley won first in the same division, showing a Duroc Jersey. Miss Dobbins was awarded the grand championship, over Parmley's entry. Thomas Chapman won first in the junior sow pig class, Joe Sherbert second, and Oscar Hale third. Chapman and Miss Dobbins are winners of the free trip to the Dallas fair, offered by the pig club.

S. J. Paschall, showing in the open competition, won first, second and third on junior pigs, and first on junior boar in the Duroc Jerseys. Glenn Parmley, pig club member, won first on senior boar pig and senior championship in the Duroc Jerseys.

M. C. Neal of Odell won first on shorthorn aged bull, first and second on senior yearling bulls, first on junior bull calf, first on aged cow and first on junior heifer yearling.

Miss Laura Lee Hall took the blue ribbon on baby beef, showing a milk type registered Durham bred by her grandfather, J. H. Carpenter, who resides eight miles south of Vernon. The animal was sold Thursday to J. H. Kinchele for $100.

C. H. Reynolds won first prize on aged bull in the Holstein class, with an animal shipped to this country from Clairmont, N. H. His bull is three years old and weighs 1,600 pounds.

John Hawley took first and second awards in the aged cow section. His

blue ribbon winner has a record of eight gallons of milk a day for eight consecutive months. His second prize winner was shipped here by J. T. Oates. Young Wheeler won first prize on a bull calf, in the Jersey exhibit. Andy Paschall took first on aged cow, and J. T. Oates second. Mr. Paschall has been a raiser of pure-bred Jerseys for many years. His blue ribbon winner is from his original herd. Mr. Oates is at present handling Jersey cattle on quite an extensive scale.

James O'Neal of Doans won first prizes on stallion and jack. He is a veteran breeder of fine horses and mules.

A mash composed of ground grains or their by-products and some form of animal protein is an essential part of a ration for both growing chickens and laying hens. The reason is that birds putting on growth or producing eggs can not assimilate enough nutriment from whole or cracked grains to supply the maximum need. When the grain is ground, says the United States Department of Agriculture, little work is required of the gizzard, and much more of the feed can be used in making flesh or eggs.

The scratch grain part of the ration, however, is needed to give the gizzard something to do in order to keep the birds in health. For laying hens the scratch grain thrown in the litter provides an incentive to needed exercise.

It was once thought that the mash should be fed wet to produce the best results, but experiments have proved that in spite of the slightly better palatability of the wet feed, the convenience of feeding it dry overbalances any slight gain in production. Feeding it dry is now the usual method. Digestibility is not increased by wetting.

The principal objection to the wet mash is that it requires too much labor. It must be moistened, then carried to the hens once a day, and the troughs must be cleaned after each feeding. Cleanliness is absolutely essential, because indigestion and diarrhea will result from feeding in dirty troughs. On the other hand, the dry mash hopper may be filled once a week or even less frequently, and needs no further attention. Hens do not overeat of dry mash as they sometimes do of wet feed.

It is often a problem to serve feeds that appeal to appetites made fickle by hot weather. Meat salads are excellent for either lunch or supper, suggests the United States Department of Agriculture. Any cold left-over meat (beef, pork, veal or lamb) may be used. Cut the meat into cubes and mix it with diced cucumber, celery, radishes or onions or any other preferred combination of crisp vegetables, season well, and, if desired, mix with a little oil and vinegar. Serve with lettuce or shredded cabbage and mayonnaise or boiled dressing.

The isolation of the farms, the feeling of being shut out from the world of bright lights and manifold gayeties as represented by life in the cities, has been completely broken by inventions and developments of science in the last few decades. First came the telephone, linking rural communities and farm houses with the world, then the automobile and good roads, reducing the conveniences of the city from hours to minutes in point of time to farm dwellers.

And now we have the radio, most wonderful of all time and distance saving devices of science. It seems fairly certain that the radiophone is with us permanently, to play a constantly increasing part in the social and industrial life of the people.

Today many boys and girls on Wilbarger county farms listen to baseball reports, inning by inning. They will hear the results of the Dixie championship games as they are played and of the national championship games, several hours before these same results are available here in the papers.

Tonight they may listen to a musical concert, broadcast from Dallas or Houston or Atlanta, Ga., or perhaps from one of the giant stations in New York or New Jersey. They may hear the voices of famous singers, reproduced with minute faithfulness, and the cadence of violin music as the hand of a master pulsates on the strings. They may hear a sermon preached by a minister in Denver, Colo., or even Spokane, Wash., and the crop reports or weather forecasts of the government.

The cost of a radio outfit varies to suit all purses. Many ambitious boys have constructed small receiving sets at an expense not exceeding 50 cents.

Radio has broken the last barrier to the isolation of the farms. Together with other modern inventions, it has enabled farmers to enjoy all the conveniences, comforts and refinements accessible to dwellers in the city. It has been partially responsible and will be increasingly so in hastening the "back-to-the-farm" movement which a few years ago was largely newspaper talk, but which is becoming an actuality over the Southwest.

A GAS SYSTEM NEEDED

With its splendid school system, good churches, paved streets, library, water, electricity, sewerage system and many other improvements, Vernon will compare favorably in public utilities and institutions with any other city its size in Texas. But there is one important respect in which this city is lacking, and that is in gas.

It is the belief of the Record that a city built along such permanent lines as Vernon, surrounded by a rich trade territory and giving every evidence of steady growth in the future, furnishes a field which should appeal strongly to utility corporations seeking a reasonable return on their investments, with the assurance of future growth.

There has been more or less discussion for some time relative to securing a gas system to serve Vernon. As far as is known, no accurate figures on the cost of installing such a system have been prepared, and no comprehensive survey made to determine the distance to the nearest adequate gas supply.

There is gas at Electra and there is said to be a supply of gas within six or eight miles of Vernon. The extent of these two sources and their probable longevity remain to be determined.

To the west is the Amarillo gas field, miles in extent and said by many practical oil men to be the largest natural gas reservoir in America, if not in the world. Between Vernon and the east edge of this field are a number of prosperous towns and cities which are with out gas and which would doubtless welcome the opportunity to secure gas at a reasonable price.

In their plans for the future, Vernon civic organizations and citizens should keep in mind that eventually Vernon will have natural or artificial gas from some source. The sooner it can be secured the better for the town.

Two district dairy calf clubs shows were held in New Castle county, Del., August 3 and 4, where club members demonstrated to dairy farmers their ability in selecting dairy animals and fitting them for exhibitions, as trained by extension workers. Ninety farm boys and girls are reported to the United States Department of Agriculture as having been enrolled in dairy calf clubs in this county in the past four years, resulting in a noticeable increase of pure-bred dairy animals kept by adult farmers.

Georgia farmers shipped 19 carloads of live poultry cooperatively in the first six months of 1922, according to reports to the United States Department of Agriculture. This poultry was fed, managed, and standardized for shipment as recommended by state and county extension workers.

STORIES OF GREAT INDIANS

By Elmo Scott Watson

Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union

GERONIMO, THE "WORST INDIAN WHO EVER LIVED"

WEBSTER'S dictionary contains at least one unintentionally grim bit of humor. "Geronimo, a Chiricahua Apache chief, flourished about 1880," reads one entry in the biographical section. Just how well this Geronimo "flourished" only the residents of New Mexico and Arizona and the soldiers who chased him can tell. They called him the "Indian Devil," the "Apache Terror" and the "worst Indian who ever lived." His mother named him Go-Yath-Lay, "The Yawner"; the Mexicans nicknamed him Geronimo, Spanish for Jerome.

Like Sitting Bull of the Sioux, Geronimo was a much press-agented and eventually a highly-overrated Indian. Although he was a daring war leader, he was not a chief. The massacre of his whole family by Mexicans in the early '60s sent him on the war-path against them. The blundering policy of our government towards the Apaches was largely responsible for his hostility toward Americans.

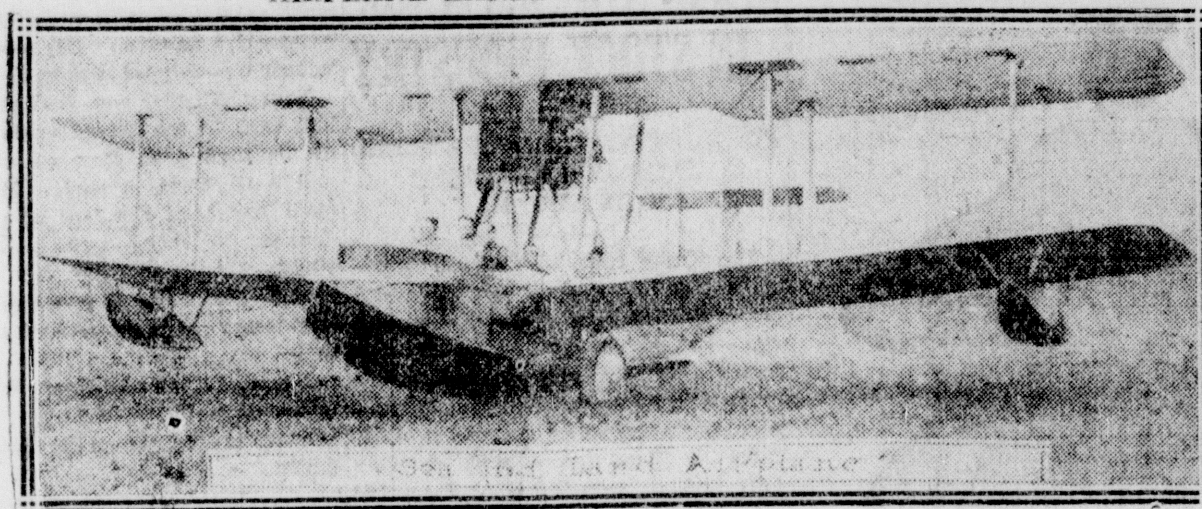

It is difficult to justify thus some of the cruelties practiced by Geronimo and his Chiricahua warriors, past masters in the art of hideous torture. This is what they did to one prospect, or, who had been wounded but not fatally: Cutting off the soles of his feet the Apaches staked him down over a red ant hill. There, instead of killing him, they let the ants finish the job.

When the government tried to settle the Chiricahuas on the San Carlos reservation, Arizona, in 1876, Geronimo and some of the other young leaders fled to Mexico. He came on the reservation later, but from that time until 1884 it was a case of "on again, off again" with Geronimo. Then he led our soldiers a merry chase of more than 3,000 miles all over the Southwest and in 1886 was finally brought to bay in Mexico by Capt. H. W. Lawton.

Geronimo acquired his widest notoriety while he was a prisoner of war at Fort Sill, Okla. He was taken to the Buffalo and Omaha expositions, but he was still a hostile at heart and turned his face away from the crowds. In 1903 he adopted the Christian religion and became a devout church-goer. He joined a Wild West show and in 1904 he attended the St. Louis exposition, where he almost got writer's cramp from printing his autograph to sell.

The last years of his life were spent in trying to persuade the government to return him to his old home in Arizona. He was unsuccessful and when he died February 21, 1909, although he had gone on his last war trail nearly a quarter of a century before, he was still a prisoner of war.

AIRPLANE LANDS ON WATER OR ON LAND.

The Amphibus is the largest type of airplane developed by the U. S. Navy. It lands on sea or land. Recently one had trouble with its valves. It landed on the water, climbed the bank to land, took the road and taxied to a blacksmith shop, where the damage was repaired, and the airship soared away from the land.

Foster's Bulletin.

Washington, Sept. 20.—October will end that type of weather experienced during the past five months and eastern sections of the continent will be pleased to know that the excessive humidity of the past four months will gradually decrease after Nov. 1. But the decrease will be slow, the new source of continental moisture will slowly take the place of the old, while rainfall will not only change places, but, as a whole, gradually decrease. In studying these forecasts don't forget that when rainfall comes and severe storms are the cause and that some months have no severe storms. At the end of October farmers will know whether they can get a good stand of winter grain for next year's crops. Southern farmers sow winter grain in the winter months. Mexico and Central America must meet a disastrous drought within two years from Nov. 1.

Section 1: North of latitude 47, between meridian 90 and Rockies' crest; lowest temperature Oct. 3, highest 16, average colder than usual; severe storms and most rain during the week centering on Oct. 3; more than usual rain first week in October, for all sections but no great change in distribution.

Section 2: North of 47 and east of meridian 90. This meridian runs north near New Orleans, St. Louis, Madison, Wis., and Port Arthur. High est temperatures near 3, lowest near 5, average first week in October below; severe storms and most rain first week in October greater than usual.

Section 3: Between 39 and 47, and between 90 and Rockies' crest; highest temperatures 1 and 6, lowest 4 and 11, average first week in October colder than usual; increased rain a little before the lowest temperatures; rain shortages expected to vanish before November 1.

Sec. 4: Highest temperatures near 1 and 3, lowest near 3; average colder than usual; most rain a day or two before lowest temperatures; heavy rains first week in October.

Section 5: Highest temperatures near 1, lowest several days near 3; average lower than usual; most rain near lower Mississippi river; some rains expected in dry parts of this section during October.

I hold that the motive power of the universe comes from the condensation of matter that comes from outer space and is condensed within the electrospheres that surround sun, earth and all other solar system bodies, the incentive being to furnish building material to these bodies which are constantly growing; that the ether of outer space cannot enter the electrospheres till organized into some of the gases that make up our atmosphere; that the outer planets catch this incoming ether, extract from its substance suited to the planets make-up and he residual passes to the next planet and so on till the final residual reaches the sun as its building material; my experiments prove this to be true and that the forces are going toward, not from the sun.

SCHROEDER ACCEPTS C. I. A. POSITION

FORMER RECORD EDITOR TO HEAD THE DENTON SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM.

Eric G. Schroeder, former managing editor of the Record, has accepted the chair of journalism at the College of Industrial Arts at Denton and will leave Vernon for that place tonight to take up the duties of his new position, it became known today.

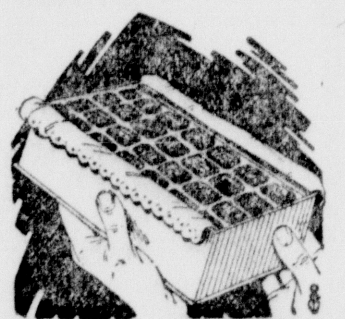

Mr. Schroeder, who is a graduate of the University of Missouri School of Journalism, came to Vernon in the Spring of 1920 and associated himself with the Vernon Record. He held the position of associate editor of the Record under Buford O. Brown until January, 1922. When Mr. Brown sold his interest in the plant and moved to Electra to become editor of the Electra News, Mr. Schroeder took the position of managing editor of the Record.

An Able Writer

Twenty-six, talented, brilliant, a natural writer and a tireless worker, Mr. Schroeder made rapid progress in his chosen profession. His work with the Record was of a quality seldom seen in a country newspaper. In addition to his editorial and editorial work with the Record, Mr. Schroeder was special correspondent for several of the big Texas dailies, and through his efforts many important news items from Wilbarger have been carried by the state papers during the past two years.

During the two and one-half years of Mr. Schroeder's practical newspaper work he has developed a wide and favorable reputation in Texas as a feature writer. The big Texas dailies have frequently carried his articles built around the feature story plan, practically all of which dealt with Wilbarger county subjects. These stories have attracted the attention of the best newspaper men of the state, because of their quality and especially have the citizens of Vernon and Wilbarger county appreciated the journalistic work of this young Missourian.

At a recent meeting of the Northwest Texas Press Association at Wichita Falls, Mr. Schroeder made a brief address on feature writing. His speech

Will You Help the Democratic Party to Win This Campaign?

If so the most helpful thing you can do now is to contribute to the Democratic Educational Campaign Fund so that the Educational work of the Democratic National Committee can be carried out as planned.

The Democratic National Committee Needs Money And Needs It NOW.

For the purpose of getting the record of failure of this Republican Do-Nothing Congress and Do-Nothing Administration before the people, and to show them again the road to Democratic Prosperity, which they traveled for eight years of Democratic rule.

Send Your Contribution Today to the Record

The Democratic National Committee has arranged with the publisher of The Vernon Record to receive and receipt for contributions. A duplicate receipt will be mailed from Democratic National Headquarters.

Give What You Can Afford—Much or Little—But Give It Now

The Democratic Party has no privileged classes, no protected profiteers, no trusts or moneybags to appeal to. It represents only the people, therefore it appeals only to them.

This is a Democratic Year. Do your share to help win the Victory.

Democratic Prosperity vs. Republican Disaster

The estimated wealth of the United States when President Wilson went into office in 1913 was $185,000,000,000; it increased to $300,000,000,000 in eight years of Democratic rule—a gain of $115,000,000,000. The present estimated wealth of the United States is $225,000,000,000—a loss of $75,000,000,000 in fifteen months under Republican rule.

Since the Republican party was voted into power in November, 1920, the American farmers alone have suffered a loss of near $30,000,000,000.

Some Republican Broken Promises

The Republicans promised the country PROSPERITY; they have given it ADVERSITY.

They promised to stimulate agriculture and business; they have given an industrial panic and destroyed our foreign markets. Foreign trade declined from $13,500,000,000 in 1920 to near $6,000,000,000 in 1922.

They promised to reduce taxes; they have shifted taxes of the multi-millionaire and profiteering class to the smaller taxpayers without lifting taxes or reducing them. Repeal of the Excess Profits tax relieved the Big interests of paying $450,000,000 in taxes; reduction of the higher surtax relieved them of paying $61,500,000.

They promised to reduce the high cost of living; they have given a Profiteers' tariff bill which increases the high cost of living, and makes the farmer pay $5 on everything he buys for each $1 of "protection" he gets.

They promised to reduce the expenses of the government; they have increased the expenses of running the various departments of the government (1923 budget, three years after the war $536,000,000 compared to 1915, three years before the war, with an estimated deficit of $500,000,000 in addition—or $1,000,000,000 increase.

EDUCATOR STARTS 17TH YEAR HERE

HOLCOMB TRAINING SCHOOL
FIRST HELD IN EPIS.
COPAL CHURCH

B. F. Holcomb, founder and president of Holcomb's Training School, is entering into his seventeenth year in this city. For eight years Mr. Holcomb was superintendent of Vernon schools, prior to his establishment of the training school which bears his name. Nine years ago at the close of his term as city superintendent, Mr. Holcomb established a small private school in the Episcopal church with himself as the only teacher.

These quarters becoming cramped, at the close of the first year the school was moved to the old jail, which was leased for a term of years. Three years later Mr. Holcomb purchased the building where the school is housed now at the corner of Yamparika and Lexington and added a number of improvements.

The building, situated in the south east section of Vernon, is a two story. On the ground floor are five class rooms and the president's office and a study hall. Eight rooms above have been converted into a girls' dormitory, with Mrs. Blanche Dow as matron. Here the girls for a nominal sum wash, do their own cooking and laundry work.

Courses taught at this school include: college, college preparatory, book keeping, banking and stenography. The work in all departments is very thorough and under the supervision of the president.

The faculty is composed of the following teachers: B. F. Holcomb, president, mathematics, Mrs. Vera Joe Jackson, bookkeeping, Mrs. J. Blanche Dow, secretary, Miss Gladys Holcomb, primary, Mrs. Dow and Miss Warner are teaching their first terms here. Mrs. Dow is from Oklahoma City and Miss Warner, from Waurika, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. McDougal, also members of the faculty, have been granted a year's leave of absence and are in Houston, where Mr. McDougal has entered Rice Institute and Mrs. McDougal has accepted a position as secretary to the superintendent of the Houston schools.

Thirty students have enrolled this term and several more have written that they would arrive about October 1 for the fall term.

FOR CHILDREN'S BIRTHDAYS... A PUREBRED PIG ON CALL

In selecting birthday and Christmas gifts for children in rural communities why not give a purebred pig, calf or other animal? This is the suggestion of the United States Department of Agriculture, which, with the various states is conducting the "Better Sires—Better Stock" campaign. A recent questionnaire study of the utility value of purebred live stock showed, among other results, that home influence is an important factor governing the breeding of superior domestic animals. In fact, it ranks in importance next to sales, fairs and shows, taken collectively. When parents show their interest in good stock the children are more likely to do so.

One breeder told of receiving a wedding gift from his father-in-law. That beginning was an important influence, which resulted in an entire herd of well bred profitable animals, a practical influence in the couple's prosperity and happiness.

Gifts of good livestock, the department points out, are not only acceptable in themselves but with proper handling multiply and give pleasure, satisfaction and financial benefits for an indefinite period.

the exhibition building and the latter in a small building near the entrance of the park. The receiving set attracted probably as big a crowd as any other feature of the fair. Programs from a number of places were picked up Wednesday, Thursday and today. A loud speaker has been connected up to the receiving set, in addition to a head-piece. The Vernon Electric company is cooperating with a field agent of the Serrano company in furnishing this feature of the entertainment. Many persons heard a loud speaker for the first time, this week, while to a large number of boys who are radio "fans" every detail of the apparatus was familiar.

Terhune-Orr Exhibit

The Terhune-Orr Implement company has an exhibit of farm machinery manufactured by the International Harvester company. The exhibit includes an International Harvester company farm tractor, a disc trailer to be used with the tractor, a Superior grain drill, a cotton and corn planter, a three disc plow, a Weber farm wagon, a primrose cream separator, and an International motor truck.

The Southwestern Implement company is showing its line of John Deere machinery. Included in the farm implements on display is a lister, which will be given away at the company's store at 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Other implements being shown are one and two row cultivators, a Van Brunt ten-runner drill, a disc harrow, and a No. 19 John Deere tractor disc. A bale of hay put up by Ruford Luttrell with a John Deere hay baler also is being shown.

Tractors on Display

Napier Bros. Motor company, Ford agent, is displaying a Fordson tractor and other Ford factory products. The little tractor is very interesting for it does "all that a mule can do" says the agent, "and more too." A three row lister-cultivator is being shown also and will be hooked up to the Fordson Saturday when an exhibition of plowing will be made. Other tractors will also enter into competition against the little Fordson and a plowing exhibition will be given on a plot of ground just north of the machinery exhibit.

House Built of Flour

One of the most artistically arranged booths in the hall is the Kell Milling company's exhibit. Out of such a prosaic but essential product as flour the company has a beautiful thing.

The walls are lined with sacks of flour, starting at the floor with the giant Hercules sacks, then comes the second grade followed by the Belle of Vernon, the highest grade. The sacks near the roof are the smaller ones containing Belle of Vernon flour. The ceiling has flour sacks for drapery and the floor is covered with the bran and shorts to represent sawdust. Near the front of the booth is a display of 22 jars showing the different steps in flour making, starting with the virgin wheat and topped off with the Belle of Vernon flour. A huge loaf of bread is in the foreground and presiding over it all is a wax figure which represents "La Belle de Vernon."

Many Musical Instruments

Paul Goetze, noted teacher of music, and his brother have on display two pianos and a player piano in a booth in the exhibit hall. Several kinds of horns and stringed instruments also are displayed. The booth is one of the most popular places on the grounds. The player piano is busy nearly all the time playing fox trots and jazzes that put life into the feet of the onlooker and several impromptu dances have been staged.

A piece of sheet music is given each person who registers at this booth.

Mrs. Frances S. Murphy, an actress, has confessed to the officials her part in an alleged plot to lure Attorney-General J. Weston Allen to her apartment in the Back Bay district. She named a prominent Boston attorney in the alleged plot. The Attorney-General failed to fall for the trap. Mrs. Murphy declares she was to have received $10,000 as her share had the blackmail plot gone through.

busily engaged handing out literature and telling of the superior quality of the old line that "pays five ways" and also describing the merits of Vernon's new mutual company recently organized. This community project has taken as its motto "Let the community spirit be your guide," and a large banner bearing this device is displayed on the booth at the west entrance of the exhibit hall.

The DeLoe lighting system is being showed by C. M. Ladd, local dealer, who has sold quite a number of these "gloom chasers" in this and adjoining counties. A washing machine, and other labor saving devices are included in this division. A recent addition to the DeLoe system is an ice machine that makes its own ice. It is the aim and object of this company, says the local dealer to make living conditions on the farm so akin to those of the city that it will not be necessary to preach a "back to the farm" movement.

Vernon high school made its first display at the fair this year and though the exhibit is small it is quite complete. Only the manual training and domestic science departments are represented. From the domestic science department the girls have a beautiful display of clothing and bed linens, which compare favorably with work done by the girls' clubs over the county. For it must be remembered that domestic science was taught in the county for several years before it was introduced into the high school here.

Kimono's, girls' waists, house dresses and school dresses, underwear, rompers, guest towels, bed linens and dainty hand made handkerchiefs are on display.

From the manual training department are writing tables, tabourets, hall trees, a writing desk and four chests really handsome pieces of furniture and all made by the boys of Vernon high school.

RAILROADS ANNOUNCE STATE FAIR RATES

Fare and a Fifth for Round Trip to Dallas, Oct. 6-15.

SAVINGS ON ADMISSIONS TO STATE FAIR ALSO

Announcement of a round trip rate of a fare and a fifth, from all points in Texas, to Dallas, for the State Fair of Texas, Oct. 6-15, has been made individually by all railroads in Texas. Similar announcement of materially reduced rates has also been made by the Texas Electric Railway Company, operating interurban lines into Dallas.

The reduced rates will be effective Oct. 5, and will continue good until Oct. 16 inclusive. Tickets will be on sale at all stations in Texas on Oct. 5, and will be good for return leaving Dallas as late as midnight of Oct. 16.

This is the most attractive rate it has been possible for the carriers to grant in several years, and it is expected that travel to Dallas and attendance upon the 1922 State Fair, will be greatly increased as a result.

STATE FAIR POULTRY HEAD EXPECTS FINE SHOW

Walter Burton, superintendent of the poultry department, State Fair of Texas, left for Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 1, to attend the national poultry meeting. Mr. Burton will tell the poultry fanciers gathered from all over the country, about the State Fair show. He expects a larger number of exhibits at the Dallas show than ever before, and a larger attendance generally. Entries for the State Fair poultry show close on Sept. 25.

RAILSTONES KILL STOCK AND HURT PEOPLE ON TRAIN

Speaking of hailstorms, it is seldom that even the oldest inhabitant can beat this report sent in to the United States Department of Agriculture by one of the field workers at a station in Colorado:

Most of the hailstorms have occurred since the winter wheat was harvested. In some sections such severe storms were experienced that corn and row crops were cut to the ground, small pigs and poultry were killed outright and buildings were severely damaged.

A St. Louis and Denver train on the Burlington line was caught in a very severe storm and was compelled to stop until the storm passed over. During the storm all of the windows and ventilators on the north side of the coaches and many of those on the north side were broken out. The hail stones were said to be simply pieces of rough ice, many of them the size of hen eggs. The stones were so large and driven with such a strong wind that they went through both sashes and the screen in the Pullman car windows. Where the curtains were pulled down as a last resort, they were ripped to shreds. The passengers took refuge under the seats on the north side of the cars. After the storm the hail was said to be several inches deep over the floors of the cars, and when the train was finally able to pull into Akron, a distance of 4 miles, many of the passengers were given medical treatment for gashes made by flying glass and bruises from the hailstones. The train was abandoned at Akron and a new train made up to carry the passengers on East.

Wish you boys would "give down" a little. Sure need it! Old Mac. 72-2c.

MILK GOAT GIVES GALLON PER DAY

H. E. HOFFMAN PLANS TO RAISE TOGGENBURG "MILKERS ON LARGE SCALE HERE.

People usually think of a goat as a pesky sort of animal which is found of climbing the chimney to bask on the roof or clambering to the top of the new car to sample the shiny cloth. His diet is popularly understood to be a mixture of old tin cans, clothing, glass and gentle stimulants such as rat poison or Paris Green. He is respected on account of his driving tactics, and often puts a person on the defensive.

But H. E. Hoffman of Vernon has a breed of goats which upset all these notions. Three of them were placed on exhibition this week at the Wilbarger county fair. They are Toggenburg milk goats, pure-blooded, registered stuff, and their ancestors came from the Swiss mountains. A male goat, a grown dam and a female kid were shown at the fair.

The female goat at present gives four quarts a day, but she has given as high as seven quarts a day, Mr. Hoffman said. The goats are free from odor, and there is no odor to the milk, he stated. They are also said to be immune from tuberculosis and other diseases which sometimes render cow's milk dangerous for human consumption.

Only five Swiss milk goats are in the county at present, according to Mr. Hoffman. He is planning to start raising them on an extensive scale. Their milk is twice as rich in butter fat as cow's milk, he pointed out, and is exceptionally fine for infants and invalids. They are good foragers and will keep in condition on very little feed.

THE SPEARMAN FARM LANDS.

located in Terry, Garret and Yorkum Counties, South Plains of the Panhandle, Texas, are now being offered at prices and terms, which will enable any industrious farmer to buy and pay for a farm with less than a year's crop.

Productive lands, a fine climate, abundance of good pure water, and a country in which one man can raise more cotton, more corn and more sweet potatoes and other farm products, than a whole family can gather. No insect pests. We make landlords out of our customers instead of tenants. Farmers who are anxious to own their own farms are invited to come to Seagraves, Texas, and talk to W. A. Sokelle, General Agent, 22 Santa Fe Building, Seagraves, Texas, who will bring you a descriptive pamphlet, giving detailed information about these lands and plan of purchase.

A reliable agent wanted in each county.
